5. Examination Details

Examination will be conducted in two phases.

Phase I: Written exam (eliminatory) - weight 25

Phase II

Written exam - weight 50

Curriculum exam (oral) - weight 25

All candidates should be present at the allocated time. Fail to so so will incur in automatic elimination

5.1 Written Exam:

Candidates will be presented with a list of ten topics, drawn from the official syllabus, 24 hours before the exam. One topic will be randomly selected; candidates will have five hours to complete the exam. A one-hour consultation period with books and reference materials will be permitted at the beginning. Notes made during consultation must be signed by the committee and attached to the final answer. The written exam must be read aloud by the candidate in a public session. Only candidates approved in this phase will be allowed to take the next one.

5.2 Teaching Exam:

Candidates will draw one topic from a list of ten prepared by the committee, based on the official syllabus. They will have 24 hours of preparation before delivering the lecture.

Duration: minimum 40 minutes, maximum 60 minutes. Exceeding time limits will result in penalties (zero if shorter than 40 minutes; interrupted at 60 minutes). The lecture will be open to the public

5.3 Curriculum exams: The evaluation of the candidate's curriculum, expressed as an overall assessment (including both presentation and review), shall reflect the candidate's academic merit. In its evaluation, the committee will take into account:

- scholarly, literary, philosophical, or artistic contributions;
- university teaching experience;
- engagement in community service and outreach;
- professional or other relevant activities, when applicable;
- academic degrees and other honors or distinctions.

6. More examination details

The teaching demonstration will be public, lasting no less than forty and no more than sixty minutes. It shall address topics from the official syllabus of the relevant field of knowledge, in accordance with Article 137 of the General Statute of the University of São Paulo (USP).

- Based on the official syllabus, the examining committee will prepare a list of ten topics, from which candidates will draw lots immediately before the assignment.
- Candidates may challenge a selected topic if they believe it falls outside the official syllabus; the committee will rule on such challenges immediately.
- The teaching demonstration will take place 24 hours after the drawing of topics. During this period, candidates are free to prepare and will not be required to engage in other activities.
- Candidates may use any teaching materials they deem necessary.
- If the number of candidates requires it, they may be divided into groups of up to three (in order of registration) for the purposes of drawing topics and presenting.
- The committee must interrupt the presentation once sixty minutes have elapsed.
- Presentations that conclude before forty minutes will automatically receive a failing grade for that component.

At the conclusion of the examinations, each examiner will assign a final grade to each candidate, calculated as the weighted average of scores from the two phases of evaluation, applying the weighting specified in Section 3 and the differentiated scoring policy described in Section 11 of this announcement.

Grades will range from 0.0 to 10.0, with rounding to one decimal place.

Differentiated scoring (affirmative action) will be applied to self-declared Black, Brown, and Indigenous candidates, as specified below.

1. The adjustment factor (PD) is calculated as: PD = (MCA - MCPPI)

Where:

- MCA is the mean score of the broad competition group (all candidates who passed the minimum requirements and did not opt into the affirmative action category).
- MCPPI is the mean score of candidates who self-declared as Black, Brown, or Indigenous (PPI) and opted into the affirmative action category, excluding ineligible candidates.
- PD is the differentiated score increment applied to each phase for all eligible PPI candidates.
- 2. Calculations will consider two decimal places. Fractions equal to or greater than 0.5 will be rounded up to the next whole number.
- 3. Differentiated scoring applies only to candidates who achieved the minimum required grade.
- 4. If no eligible PPI candidates remain after minimum grade requirements, the differentiated scoring will not be applied.
- 5. Differentiated scoring will also not apply in cases where MCPPI is greater than MCA.

7. Results and Appointment

The results of the competition will be announced publicly by the examining committee immediately after the conclusion of evaluations.

Candidates will be considered qualified if they obtain a minimum final grade of seven (7.0) from a majority of examiners.

Each examiner will indicate their choice of candidate based on the grades assigned. The candidate receiving the greatest number of recommendations from the committee will be proposed for appointment.

Appointment is subject to medical clearance by the State Medical Board (DPME), in accordance with Article 47, VI of Law No. 10,261/1968.

Appointments and related administrative procedures will follow Resolution No. 7271 of 2016.

Faculty hired under the RDIDP regime (exclusive dedication) must maintain full-time exclusive employment with USP, in accordance with Article 197 of the General Statute.

The competition will have immediate effect, and only the recommended candidate will be nominated for the advertised position.

The appointment will be officially published in the Diário Oficial do Estado (State Official Gazette).

Annex – Justification for the Position Current Situation of the Department/Area

The Department of Computer Science requires faculty with strong expertise in software development and programming languages. These areas are critical for training students to design modular, adaptable, and testable systems, as well as to work effectively in collaborative environments. The increasing role of Generative Artificial Intelligence further reinforces the demand for solid knowledge in programming languages and engineering practices. Currently, the department lacks sufficient faculty to fully cover this essential area.

General Objective of the Appointment

The selected professor is expected to strengthen research and teaching in software development and programming language design and implementation, filling a critical gap in the department's curriculum. Responsibilities include teaching, supervising students, producing educational materials, conducting research, securing research funding, and engaging in outreach activities.
